NCSH

Nordic Center for Sustainable Healthcare (NCSH) is a cross-sectoral network involving stakeholders, organisations, projects and expertise in the area of sustainable healthcare – all sharing the goal of creating a more sustainable healthcare sector. The Nordic countries and many of NCSH's international members have a solid knowledge base and advanced technologies for improved environmental performance and sustainability in healthcare. Our goal is to make the knowledge and solutions more accessible and visible worldwide.

The network of NCSH includes companies, hospitals, regions, universities, NGO's, clusters and more. Together they form an eco-system that generates collaborations, projects, business, knowledge and new innovative ideas.

THE 6TH NORDIC CONFERENCE

The 6th Nordic Conference on Sustainable Healthcare, hosted by NCSH at Best Western Malmö Arena Hotel, promises to be an unparalleled meeting of minds. Anticipate a variety of activities scheduled for the day preceding and following the event.

This assembly serves as a focal point for leading figures across Europe delving into the realm of sustainable healthcare. Imagine a convergence of hospitals, businesses, regions, universities, and other actors collaborating to develop environmentally-friendly and resilient healthcare systems.

Let us come together, create connections, and collectively enable eco-conscious initiatives.

About us

Our Purpose

We push the boundaries of science to deliver life-changing medicines.

Inspired by our Values and what science can do, we are focused on accelerating the delivery of life-changing medicines that create enduring value for patients, society, the planet and our shareholders.

Our Values

We follow the science

We put patients first

We play to win

We do the right thing

We are entrepreneurial

Our business model

We are a global pharmaceutical business with a science-led and patient-focused value proposition committed to excellence in the research, development, manufacturing and commercialisation of prescription medicines.

We are also committed to operating sustainably, in a way that recognises the interconnection between business growth, the needs of society and the limitations of our planet. We invest resources to create financial and non-financial value that benefit patients, society, the planet and our business.

Our strategic priorities

Our priorities reflect how we are working to deliver our growth through innovation strategy and achieve our Purpose:

Parallel sessions 1

10:45

Digitalisation as a tool for greener healthcare

Digitalisation within the healthcare sector includes a wide range of topics – from new models of remote health and precision medicine to more energy-efficient production procedures and the presence of measurement tools within hospitals. These models all contribute to making the delivery of healthcare more sustainable.

Parallel sessions 1

Build, upgrade, maintain

10:45

Sustainable infrastructure requires long-term planning, involving the design of a resource-efficient building as well as upgrading and maintenance over time. The same presumably applies when creating resilient healthcare. So, how do we construct greener hospitals in practice?

Parallel sessions 1

Engaging stakeholders in sustainable healthcare

10:45

Sustainability is a collaborative practice, not least in the healthcare system. As a crucial resource, healthcare employees have the role and possibility of implementing greener practices. To enable such implementation, however, it is necessary to look at methods that inspire engagement and collaboration between stakeholders both within and outside of the hospital walls.

Parallel sessions 2

From waste to circularity

12:45

Circularity within healthcare requires a rethinking of waste management models. If successful, the healthcare sector – as a significant producer of waste in different forms – can contribute to a more circular society at large.

Parallel sessions 2

Decarbonising the healthcare sector

12:45

The healthcare sector accounts for about 5 % of all CO2 emissions worldwide. Hospitals and their suppliers therefore have a notable responsibility to work towards a net zero goal, considering energy efficiency as well as the implementation of new materials and practices.

Parallel sessions 2

Extreme resilience: Putting sustainability to the test

12:45

In the face of climate emergencies, warfare or other crises situations, securing a robust healthcare sector is key for a sustainable society. In many cases, sustainable practices go hand in hand with robustness. How does this apply to healthcare under more extreme conditions?

Parallel sessions 3 Financing sustainable healthcare

14:30

Sustainable changes of the healthcare sector require investments – public ones as well as other innovative formulas that can contribute to effective and impactful collaboration. Such investments are needed to speed up the transformation in a fast enough pace to reach global goals of sustainability.

Committed to sustainable healthcare

The world of health never stands still. And neither have we. At every moment that counts, we will be there. From evaluating and continuously acknowledging the environmental impact of our products, to putting in our best efforts to optimise tools and solutions to better address relevant issues affecting society and the planet.

At BD, our strategic partnerships across the patient journey, combined with our manufacturing and distribution scale, and 125 years of experience have made us uniquely able to recognise the importance of the role we as a manufacturer have to play to rise to one of health's biggest challenges.
